Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder is aware of her role in safeguarding children. She knows how to record and report any welfare concerns that may arise.
- The childminder understands how to promote the areas of learning. She recognises the importance of observing children and planning for their individual needs. She knows how to prepare children for their next steps in learning and their move to school.
- The childminder recognises the value of working in partnership with parents and other providers that children may attend, to promote continuity in their learning and care.
- The childminder understands how to provide a warm and welcoming environment. She knows how to undertake risk assessments to ensure the premises are safe for children.
- The childminder understands the importance of promoting healthy lifestyles for children. She knows how to manage children's behaviour and teach them about diversity and the need to respect one another.
- The childminder has measures in place to evaluate her practice and identify areas to improve. She maintains her professional development, such as through regular training.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector viewed the childminder's premises and resources that are available for children.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder throughout the inspection to assess her understanding of meeting the requirements.
- The inspector sampled relevant documentation, including the childminder's policies and procedures, suitability checks, risk assessments and her qualifications.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her self-evaluation processes and improvement plan.

The childminder registered 2003. She lives in the London Borough of Haringey. The childminder operates from 8am to 6pm, Monday to Friday, throughout the year. At the time of the inspection, there were no children on roll. The childminder holds a recognised qualification at level 3.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
