This is a report of an inspection to assess whether services are meeting the needs of people who use them. The legal basis for conducting inspections is the Care Standards Act 2000 and the relevant National Minimum Standards for this establishment are those for Residential Special Schools. They can be found at www.dh.gov.uk or obtained from The Stationery Office (TSO) PO Box 29, St Crispins, Duke Street, Norwich, NR3 1GN. Tel: 0870 600 5522. Online ordering: www.tso.co.uk/bookshop

Every Child Matters, outlined the government's vision for children's services and formed the basis of the Children Act 2004. It provides a framework for inspection so that children's services should be judged on their contribution to the outcomes considered essential to wellbeing in childhood and later life.

Those outcomes are:

- Being healthy
- Staying safe
- Enjoying and achieving
- Making a contribution; and
- Achieving economic wellbeing.

In response, the Commission for Social Care Inspection has re-ordered the national minimum standards for children's services under the five outcomes, for reporting purposes. A further section has been created under 'Management' to cover those issues that will potentially impact on all the outcomes above.

Copies of Every Child Matters and The Children Act 2004 are available from The Stationery Office as above.

Brief Description of the School:

Valence school is situated off the A25 Westerham Road and is set within 40 acres of park and woodland in the Darenth Valley.

The school caters for children aged between 5 and 19 years as day and boarding pupils, (boarding can commence at the age of 8), who have physical disabilities and/or complex medical needs. Many of the pupils have additional special needs in relation to learning, communication and social and emotional development.

Boarding accommodation comprises of four separate areas, Turrets and Chevening are situated on the first floor of the main building and accommodate younger boarders. Jubilee, which is on the second floor, offers accommodation and support to those who are working specifically to increase their independence skills, which may also include attending external educational and work placements. Lawn House, a single storey unit, is set to the side of the main school building, accommodating boarders aged 16 and over. Access to the three boarding areas within the main building is gained by the majority of boarders through using two lifts.

Over the course of the last three years ongoing refurbishment and maintenance works have continued; however, the physical environment for boarders remains inadequate, with Lawn House, the 16+ unit, being totally inappropriate and unable to meet even the basic care needs of boarders. Inadequate staffing levels further exacerbate these problems. Pupils with greater and additional care needs are joining the school but staffing levels have not been increased accordingly.

Despite all of the above, a committed staff team continues to strive to do their very best within the restrictions of an inadequate environment and an insufficient number of care staff. Led by a Headmaster and Head of Care, who provide clear leadership and commitment, the school offers support to pupils through teachers, education support staff, carers, nurses and therapists.

Fees for a residential boarding placement as at this inspection are £34,761.00 per annum.

SUMMARY

This is an overview of what the inspector found during the inspection.

This key inspection followed the earlier two visits made this calendar year due to the serious levels of concern that had been previously identified.

The purpose was to find evidence that the major shortfalls in terms of staffing levels and the physical environment were being addressed appropriately, as well as seeking to cover the 'key standards' for Residential Special Schools.

The visit commenced on 11th December 2006 and an additional day was arranged for 11th January 2007, in order for Kent County Council representatives to attend to provide additional evidence that the areas of concern are continuing to be satisfactorily addressed. Hence, the contents of this report will feature evidence obtained from both visits.

It should also be noted that much of the text within this report remains unchanged from the previous document of 19/06/06.

The most positive outcome from this inspection was to receive written confirmation of the following points:

- That KCC will provide a 36 bedded residential facility in six, six bedded pavilions, on the Top Lawn, the funding for which, exists within the Council's 2007/8 Capital Programme.
- That additional funding for staffing, made available to the School in 2006/7, will continue to be available in 2007/8.
- That a full master plan will be submitted for approval and tender by the end of January 2007.

It was also noted from this visit that the temporary solutions discussed last time, including the need for additional accessible toilet / changing facilities and improved measures for privacy were being addressed.

The toilet / changing rooms were being prepared, to be ready after the February half term and additional privacy screens for Jubilee and Chevening had been ordered.

Although the overall findings of this visit do not show immediate, significant improvements in terms of the outcomes for boarders, the evidence obtained does demonstrate a willingness and commitment from the provider to address the concerns and shortfalls identified, within a realistic timescale.

The ongoing implementation of the agreed plans will continue to be carefully tracked and monitored throughout the forthcoming inspection year, commencing April 2007.

What the school does well:

The school continues to engage in much commendable working practice, which focuses upon treating pupils with dignity and respect.

It is within the very ethos of the school that all pupils are to be afforded the same rights and respect as any other young person; their disabilities are recognised but not predominant.

The school is led by a motivated senior management team, which in turn, is supported by an active Board of Governors.

The care team remain committed to providing the best possible service, despite the unacceptable conditions they are working in and the nursing manager strives to work collaboratively with a variety of colleagues, in an attempt to provide the best possible packages of care.

Explicitly clear policies and procedures pertaining to the welfare needs and protection of boarders are effectively implemented in practice; care staff are commended for their practice in terms of advocating for those in their care.

What has improved since the last inspection?

A working group, led by the head teacher has been launched to further assess care - staffing levels against the presenting needs of the pupils and an additional review of medical / nursing needs is also being conducted.

Additional facilities for toilets / changing rooms are currently being installed and additional screens have been ordered to improve upon privacy for boarders in Jubilee and Chevening.

The quality of care records has improved and greater emphasis is now in place for students to complete much of this themselves.

What they could do better:

The physical environment remains wholly inadequate and must be rectified, in terms of the health & safety of boarders and staff, and further, to ensure the buildings and resources meet the needs of the boarders.

Staffing levels need to continue to improve, in order to meet basic care needs and beyond this, to ensure boarders have satisfactory opportunities to undertake meaningful and appropriate leisure activities.

The nursing provision for pupils must be addressed as a priority because the health / medical needs of pupils are not being met.

Please contact the Head for advice of actions taken in response to this inspection.

Scoring of Outcomes

Recommended Actions identified during the inspection

Being Healthy

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- Children live in a healthy environment and the health and intimate care needs of each child are identified and promoted.(NMS 14)
- Children are provided with healthy, nutritious meals that meet their dietary needs.(NMS 15)

The Commission considers Standard 14 the key standard to be inspected.

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

14, 15.

Quality in this outcome area is poor.

Boarders do not receive the medical / nursing input as dictated by their needs.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

As was found from the previous visit, there continues to be reliance upon the provision of processed foods, particularly in respect of evening meals, including hamburgers, pizzas and pasta dishes. It was also noted that for boarders requiring additional nourishment due to their specific medical needs, there is reliance upon the use of high calorie snacks such as creamy yogurts. In reading care files, in many cases there was no clear reference to the specific dietary requirements of individuals and how these would be met. An increase in the dietician's contracted hours or the acquisition of a dietetic assistant was recommended last time and is again strongly recommended in the best interests of boarders' health needs.

A female doctor continues to visit the school once a week and more frequently if required. Boarders may choose to see a male doctor from the local practice and to see a doctor on their own. The school dentist spends a whole day at the school every two weeks and the optician visits the school fortnightly. In addition, there are visits from a chiropodist, and the community paediatrician from the PCT sees all school pupils. An Orthopaedic Surgeon and a Paediatric Neurologist from Guys Hospital also visits the School. Care staff consider that they are fortunate to have in house visits which causes less disruption for the young people and their carers.

Whilst all of the above points are positively noted, serious concerns remain in terms of the overall amount of nursing input currently being provided. A representative from the South West Kent PCT was interviewed and the issues of concern, regarding the current levels of nursing provision were discussed. Over the course of the last three inspections, evidence shows a clear decrease in terms of the amount of 'nursing hours' being provided and this has meant in real terms that a number of procedures and tasks are no longer happening. The response given outlined the current review being undertaken, which concerns the whole geographical area for the Trust, and how the school will fit into this. Whilst it is accepted that the Trust has a much wider area to serve, the fact remains that pupils of the school are currently in receipt of an inadequate service.

Staying Safe

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- Children's privacy is respected and information about them is confidentially handled.(NMS 3)
- Children's complaints are addressed without delay and children are kept informed of progress in their consideration.(NMS 4)
- The welfare of children is promoted, children are protected from abuse, and an appropriate response is made to any allegation or suspicion of abuse.(NMS 5)
- Children are protected from bullying by others.(NMS 6)
- All significant events relating to the protection of children in the school are notified by the Head of the school or designated person to the appropriate authorities.(NMS 7)
- Children who are absent without authority are protected in accordance with written guidance and responded to positively on return.(NMS 8)
- Children are assisted to develop appropriate behaviour through the encouragement of acceptable behaviour and constructive staff responses to inappropriate behaviour.(NMS 10)
- Children live in schools that provide physical safety and security.(NMS 26)
- There is careful selection and vetting of all staff, volunteers, and monitoring of visitors to the school to prevent children being exposed to potential abusers.(NMS 27)

The Commission considers Standards 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 26 and 27 the key standards to be inspected.

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

Quality in this outcome area is poor.

Although the school engages in much commendable practice in terms of the protection of boarders, the physical environment continues to pose unacceptable risks.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

As was found from the previous inspection visit, the actual practice of care staff clearly respects and protects confidential information about individual pupils. Staff are explicitly clear about protocols regarding information sharing and do this only on a 'need to know' basis. Pupils verbally confirmed this practice, stating, " You can trust the staff and they tell you if they need to tell someone else about what you've said".

Other, more 'practical' aspects regarding privacy remain sadly inadequate, for example, physical environmental factors, such as boarders having their privacy and dignity compromised when receiving personal care, which necessitates being manoeuvred across a communal hallway in a state of semi – undress to access a bathroom. This factor should improve to a certain degree, in terms of the acquisition of 'fixed' screens, which have been ordered and these will also lessen the amount of the moving and handling of equipment by staff.

Formal complaints from boarders are actively encouraged and the written documentation seen supported the ethos of an environment that encourages and empowers young people to make representations and they rightfully expect to be listened and responded to. Complaints made by boarders were recorded in writing and appropriately responded to and acted upon, in accordance with the school's own policies and procedures.

Sound policy and procedural guidance remains in place with regards protecting young people from all forms of abuse, including bullying. School personnel work openly and transparently with external organisations, including placing authorities and the Commission, making prompt notifications as to significant events, in accordance with regulations and good practice guidance. Child protection concerns and allegations continue to be shared appropriately with those agencies that need to be informed.

Although there is clear procedural guidance with regards unauthorised absences and missing pupils, this again has not needed to be implemented, as there have been no such incidents. Pupils, both day and boarding, continue to have an excellent attendance record.

The school continues to follow clear and explicit procedural guidance in terms of applying appropriate sanctions in response to inappropriate behaviours. Such incidents are clearly recorded in writing and monitored by senior personnel to ensure appropriateness and consistency. More positively, the school places greater emphasis upon rewarding positive behaviours and pupils were observed to enjoy meaningful and respectful relationships with staff.

Whilst the school has good security mechanisms in place, which ensure safety from potential intruders, the potential risks to safety, caused by an inappropriate physical environment, remain and must be addressed. There are some physical aspects of the environment that present significant health and safety concerns for both staff and boarders; these include:

1. Lawn House has inadequate access in terms of toilets, bathrooms and the student kitchen.
2. Jubilee Unit has a totally inadequate 'split floor', which necessitates the use of a ramp and lift. At best, this compromises the independence of boarders coming and going freely and at worst, it presents a hazard in terms of potential falls and accidents, one of which has happened in the past.
3. Whilst refurbishment works remain ongoing throughout the entire boarding provision, a number of toilets and bathrooms, in constant use, are not equipped with the room and equipment to enable staff to move and execute the manoeuvres they need to make; this compromises theirs and the boarders' safety.

The school continues to implement sound and robust staff recruitment procedures. Individuals cannot take up their posts until all required checks have been satisfactorily completed and clear records of interviews support that the senior management team offers positions only to those demonstrating the skills and experience commensurate with the role they have applied for.

Enjoying and Achieving

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- The school's residential provision actively supports children's educational progress at the school.(NMS 12)
- Children have ample opportunity to engage in purposeful and enjoyable activities both within the school and in the local community.(NMS 13)
- Children receive individual support when they need it.(NMS 22)

The Commission considers Standards 12 and 22 the key standards to be inspected.

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

12, 13, 22.

Quality in this outcome area is poor.

Inadequate care staff levels unfairly restrict boarders in receiving the support they need.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

As was found from the previous visit, duty rosters and care records continue to show that boarders frequently do not receive the assistance they need for the completion of homework, as their carers are busy trying to meet the most basic needs of individuals, such as personal care.

These staff are also required to provide assistance at lunchtime, by assisting those requiring support to eat their meals and also with after school clubs and activities.

It was again observed that when such staffing levels are low – as they often are, this has an additional negative impact upon teaching staff, as break times do not always allow sufficient time for personal care needs to be met, resulting in classes being late.

Students were again observed to be spending much of their morning break – time queuing for toilets. A number of these are inadequate, with wheelchair – users unable to gain access. In reality, this means long queues for those that can be used, and care staff working extremely hard to enable everyone to use the toilet before returning to classes.

At the time of this visit, evidence was seen to show that work had commenced in terms of installing additional toilet / changing facilities; these should be ready after the February half – term and should alleviate some of this problem. From the observations made, staff are commended for their efforts in remaining positive and cheery towards the students, whilst in reality, they were working physically very hard, trying to ensure everyone was finished before lessons were due to resume. This places unfair pressure on care staff and does not lend itself to positive relationships between ‘care’ and ‘teaching’ departments.

All school personnel work extremely hard to provide extra curricular activities, including computer, sports and arts clubs, use of the indoor swimming pool and accessing the wider local community. Once again, such events are dependant upon safe staffing levels and the lack of such is frequently the cause of such events being restricted or cancelled altogether. In addition, inadequate staffing levels at weekends and the lack of staff members who are able to drive the schools’ own transport further restricts the opportunity to engage in meaningful leisure pursuits.

Care files contain clear and explicit records describing the individual and specific support needs of boarders, and the care team members are acutely aware of these. Once again, inadequate staffing levels and for some, inadequate facilities, means that such support is not always being received. As has been mentioned within the ‘being healthy’ section of this report, concern remains with regards meeting the individual support needs of boarders. From the previous inspection, a total vacancy factor of 110.5 nursing hours was found and this remains. This means that students are currently receiving only very basic nursing care. Qualitative input such as management of nutrition, continence, sex education, weights and heights of students and cover for off – site trips cannot currently be covered by the nursing team. This concern is further exacerbated given that, over the past few years, the actual nursing needs of students at the school have steadily increased. Such major shortfalls pose significant and unacceptable risks for students and must be addressed as a matter of utmost priority.

Making a Positive Contribution

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- Children are encouraged and supported to make decisions about their lives and to influence the way the school is run. No child should be assumed to be unable to communicate their views.(NMS 2)
- Children have sound relationships with staff based on honesty and mutual respect.(NMS 9)
- Children experience planned and sensitively handled admission and leaving processes.(NMS 11)
- Children have their needs assessed and written plans outline how these needs will be met while at school.(NMS 17)
- In accordance with their wishes children are able and encouraged to maintain contact with their parents and families while living away from home at school.(NMS 20)

The Commission considers Standards 2, 17 and 20 the key standards to be inspected.

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

2, 9, 11, 17, 20.

Quality in this outcome area is excellent.

Boarders enjoy positive, respectful relationships with their care - givers and are encouraged to be as independent and autonomous as their disabilities allow.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

As has been found from previous visits, relationships between staff and boarders were again observed to be positive and respectful. Forums such as student council continue to provide avenues for all pupils to share their views and opinions with the school and the independent visitor continues to be available.

Written records support full and thorough assessment processes being conducted, which include consultation with the prospective pupil, parents and other associated professionals. As was highlighted from the previous visit, there have been instances whereby ongoing assessments, such as eating plans, had been conducted without any form of consultation with the care staff or parents, resulting in a written programme being devised for staff to follow, which they may not fully understand. Such practice erodes positive working partnerships and has the potential to make care staff and parents feel uninvolved. The nursing manager continues to work very hard to facilitate the therapy and care services, however; with staffing shortages at all levels, such difficulties are further exacerbated.

A high proportion of students possess communication difficulties and this factor is extensively explored through induction and ongoing training for the staff team. Observations of practice again saw staff providing the time and patience needed for individuals to communicate their needs, by adjusting pacing of speech or using electronic equipment. No individual was rushed or hurried and no member of staff attempted to finish a child's sentence for them.

Contact with parents and relatives continues to be effectively supported through a number of means. Telephones are readily available and calls can be made in private. With greater computer access for boarders, email use will undoubtedly increase. Staff use a home/school communication book which goes between home and school with the student. In the main, parents reported good communication systems and said they are always made to feel welcome when visiting the school. Once again, there were a small number of negative comments about late or non-communication and this was frequently attributed to 'the staff are so busy, they don't always have the time'.

Achieving Economic Wellbeing

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- Children can wear their own clothing outside school time, can secure personal requisites and stationery while at school, and are helped to look after their own money.(NMS 16)
- Children about to leave care are prepared for the transition into independent living.(NMS 21)
- Children live in well designed and pleasant premises, providing sufficient space and facilities to meet their needs.(NMS 23)
- Children live in accommodation which is appropriately decorated, furnished and maintained to a high standard, providing adequate facilities for their use.(NMS 24)
- Children are able to carry out their personal care in privacy and with dignity.(NMS 25)

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

16, 21, 23, 24, 25.

Quality in this outcome area is poor.

The physical environment does not meet boarders' needs in terms of safety and independent access, and further, it compromises their privacy and dignity.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

As was found from the previous visit, examples of inadequate provision includes:

- Lawn House – a number of toilets are completely inaccessible for the boarders. Individuals cannot exercise choice in terms of bedrooms, because a number can only be accessed by ambulant students. Although the sitting rooms have been decorated and furnished with televisions, play stations, etc, the remainder of the building has no homely feel with a kitchen which is too small to accommodate the number of boarders wishing to use it. Much equipment is being stored in a shed outside. The main communal area, where meals are taken, is likened to a functional, institutional dining hall that may be found within a conventional school or college. This is meant to be a homely environment and the absence of good décor and quality furnishings makes it an unappealing place to be.

- Main Building – Jubilee and Chevening are situated on long corridors, with bedrooms on one side and bathrooms/toilets opposite. In order for boarders to access bathing/toilet facilities, care staff have to manoeuvre the young person across the corridor, often in a state of partial undress. As previously stated, the acquisition of permanent screens, fixed to the walls should alleviate this somewhat. As the Chevening corridor is regularly used as a through route to the sports hall and swimming pool, this factor continues to compromise the dignity and privacy of those living there. The toilets and bathrooms are not large enough to accommodate hoists and other required equipment, which would protect staff and boarders and the whole manoeuvre does nothing to promote independence or the dignity of boarders.
- All boarding areas have limited storage space for the copious amounts of equipment needed by the students. Again, the school does what it can with the resources in place, but this often results in equipment being stored inappropriately and a long way from where it is actually needed.
- Access to Jubilee unit, where some of the older boarders live, requires access down a short flight of steps or use of a platform lift. A recent accident involving the platform lift now means that all wheelchair users have to be accompanied by a staff member when using it, once again restricting their ability to exercise independence.

It was therefore positive to receive written confirmation that funding for a 36 bedded residential building has been secured and an application for planning permission will be made at the end of January 2007.

It is also being considered that Lawn House may be retained, as opposed to being demolished, in order to refurbish this building at a later date.

During the meeting of 12th January 2007, additional discussions were held with regards ongoing maintenance issues, including the need to repair the roof of Lawn House and refurbishment of the dining hall; these issues are subject to ongoing agreement with the relevant KCC department and progress will be explored at the next inspection.

Management

The intended outcomes for these standards are:

- Children, parents, staff and placing authorities have access to a clear statement of the school's care principles and practice for boarding pupils.(NMS 1)
- Children's needs, development and progress is recorded to reflect their individuality and their group interactions.(NMS 18)
- There are adequate records of both the staff and child groups of the school.(NMS 19)
- Children are looked after by staff who understand their needs and are able to meet them consistently.(NMS 28)
- Children are looked after by staff who are trained to meet their needs.(NMS 29)
- Children are looked after by staff who are themselves supported and guided in safeguarding and promoting the children's welfare.(NMS 30)
- Children receive the care and services they need from competent staff.(NMS 31)
- Children and staff enjoy the stability of efficiently run schools.(NMS 32)
- The governing body, trustees, local authority, proprietor or other responsible body monitors the welfare of the children in the school.(NMS 33)

The Commission considers Standards 1, 28, 31 and 32 the key standards to be inspected.

JUDGEMENT – we looked at outcomes for the following standard(s):

1, 18, 19, 28, 31, 32.

Quality in this outcome area is adequate.

Although the school provides clear written guidance describing its services, it is not currently able to meet all of the needs of those it looks after. This includes boarders and staff.

This Judgement has been made using available evidence including a visit to this service.

EVIDENCE:

Interviews with care staff confirmed that the inadequate findings from the previous visit remain.

Although staff recruitment is ongoing, it takes considerable time to recruit the calibre of staff that the school wants to appoint and, in terms of its clear criteria, many initial applicants are not short - listed. The school is commended for seeking to recruit the very best of candidates; however, recruiting the necessary number and calibre of care staff continues to be a difficult process.

Whilst INSET training days continue to be provided, a number of staff are finding it difficult to attend and keep up with other sources of training, such as NVQ. Those working additional shifts commented that it is really difficult to find the time and motivation to complete course work after a long, physically tiring day.

Following the previous inspection, a concerted effort has been placed upon allocating the time and resources to complete daily records. Due to a creative approach, all boarders are being encouraged and supported to set their own goals and targets. These are held electronically and each week, students and their key workers complete the record, which is held in a diary format. Such a key working session was observed during this visit and the student explained how it works and spoke very positively about the newly introduced project.

Those staff interviewed demonstrated a sound understanding as to the needs of those in their care and the training and experience they have gained over time, enables them to effectively communicate with pupils and meet their needs. It is the inadequate physical environment and unacceptable staffing levels, which present the barriers to standards being met.

The senior management team and Board of Governors provide the most positive input and support that they are able, however; the remedies and solutions to these problems are beyond their control.

This ongoing situation has led to an increased number of negative comments being received by the Commission from the parents of boarders; more recently, telephone complaints have been received, concerning the physical environment and lack of care staff numbers. In addition, further dissatisfaction was expressed in that a collective letter, outlining such concerns had not been responded to.

From the previous inspection, a recommendation was made for the Standard 33 Visitor to focus more clearly upon the issues and concerns raised within the inspection reports. Evidence was seen to demonstrate that copies of all CSCI reports and the school's subsequent action plans have been requested in order for her to be able to do this more effectively. It was also positive to note that a date has been set for a meeting in March 2007, in order for KCC representatives and the Standard 33 Visitor to meet with the Board of Governors to monitor the current situation and keep abreast of progress.
