Dear Mrs Harbinder Dalal

Outcome of monitoring visit for provision judged as inadequate

An Ofsted inspector, Elizabeth Juon, carried out a monitoring visit of your provision on 16/12/2013. This visit follows on from your inspection where the provision was judged to be inadequate.

Outcome of the visit

As a result of our inspection on 26/09/2013, we sent you a welfare requirements notice.

In order to meet requirements relating to Child protection, Suitable people, Staff qualifications, training, support and skills, Key person, Staff: child ratios, and Information and records, you were required to implement a policy and procedures to safeguard children, including following the action to be taken in the event of an allegation being made against a member of staff; follow your policy to ensure that practitioners are not under the influence of alcohol or any other substance which may affect their ability to care for children; ensure there is a named deputy who is capable and qualified to take charge in the manager's absence; assign each child a key person so that every child's care is tailored to meet their individual needs, to offer a settled relationship for children and build a relationship with their parents; inform parents of the name of the key person and their role when a child starts attending a setting, and ensure that all staff are aware of who their key children are; demonstrate ratios are consistently met, as set out in the requirements for the Statutory Framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage; ensure that staffing arrangements meet the needs of all children to ensure their safety and ensure that children are adequately supervised by sufficiently qualified staff in all areas of the premises; maintain the daily record of the children being cared for on the premises, their hours of attendance and the names of each child's key person and ensure these records are easily accessible and available; ensure that confidential information and records about staff and children are held securely and only accessible and available to those who have a right or professional need to see them

In addition, you were issued with a notice to improve which required you to address actions relating to Staff qualifications, training, support and skills; Information and records; and the areas of learning and development and assessment. The notice to improve asked you to ensure that you maintain the required records and they are easily accessible and available, including information on all staff qualifications; all staff have a clear understanding of their roles and responsibilities and ensure that all staff receive effective induction training, especially with regards to child protection; that appropriate arrangements are in place for the supervision of staff who have contact with children and families; provide support, coaching and training for staff to promote the interests of children, and foster a culture of mutual support, teamwork and continuous improvement which encourages the confidential discussion of sensitive issues; that staff observe children to understand their level of achievement, interests and learning styles, and then shape learning experiences for each child reflecting those observations; that each area of learning and development is implemented through planned, purposeful play and through a mix of adult-led and child-initiated activity and that staff respond to each child's emerging needs and interests, guiding their development through warm, positive interaction; that children receiving childcare are kept safe from harm; and that no person smokes, or consumes or is under the influence of drugs or alcohol on the premises at any time while childcare is provided, or in the presence of a child receiving childcare.

Having considered all the evidence, the inspector is of the opinion that at this time the setting is making satisfactory improvement overall.

Overall effectiveness of the improvement and outcomes for children

At the monitoring visit on 25 November 2013, we found that satisfactory progress had been made in relation to meeting the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) safeguarding and welfare requirements.

The provider has demonstrated a satisfactory capacity for improvement and a willingness to make changes to help ensure children's safety and wellbeing. The required documentation has been updated including staff files, children and staff attendance and policies and procedures. The more consistent staff team is in place with the provider managing the setting and there is evidence that adult:child ratios are maintained. This encourages children's emotional well-being and security in the setting. The staff are being made aware through a more thorough induction and on-line training of the policies and procedures including safeguarding procedures. There are planned 1 to 1's and appraisals arranged with staff to identify their training needs. The staff team have held staff meetings. The setting has received support and training information from the local authority early year's advisors to help the provider and staff improve their working practices and understanding of the EYFS requirements. A qualified staff member has been named to be in charge should the manager be absent and all children are assigned a key person. The staff are currently getting to know the children and assess their individual needs to enable planning of suitable activities and to encourage positive interactions between adults and children. We found some simple observations of children have begun however the activities on offer for the children lacked focus and were not planned to help children make progress in any specific area. These learning and development requirements remain an area for improvement.

The actions set have either been met or are on the way to being met therefore we do not need to re-issue any of the notices to improve. We will assess the improvements made to the planning of the educational programme at the next visit to ensure children's individual learning and development needs are met; and to ensure the improvements made can be sustained.

At the monitoring visit on 16 December 2013, we found satisfactory progress had again been made and previous improvement had been maintained, in relation to the EYFS requirements. The staff team had remained consistent since the last visit and a new qualified staff member has been appointed. The children were using their age appropriate base rooms. These measures provide the opportunity for children to gain emotional security with the adult appointed as key person, and to be safe and comfortable in the setting. The record keeping and required documentation has been updated and improved. All staff have had a 1 to 1 supervision and their roles and responsibilities reinforced. Staff have undertaken recent on-line safeguarding training and have the opportunity to attend other relevant training in 2014 provided by the local authority early years department. These measures help to promote children's safety and wellbeing within the setting. The EYFS learning and development requirements are still in the early stages of improvement. There is now a weekly activity sheet and observations and assessments of children's progress have begun. The staff team were observed to be taking responsibility for improvements and working together for the benefit of the children. We will continue to assess the overall improvements to the educational programme to ensure there is a full programme of planned, purposeful play that meets the needs of all the children and helps them to make progress. In addition the EYFS safeguarding and welfare requirements must be maintained at all times.

As a consequence of an investigation visit on 19 November 2013 we found children of all ages had free-flow access to all rooms. However, there had been no risk assessments undertaken of the activities and resources within reach of younger children and hazards were identified that could potentially cause harm to a younger child. Following the visit we issued a welfare requirements notice that asked the provider to,

- ensure there is a clear and well-understood policy, and procedures, for assessing any risks to children's safety, and review risk assessments regularly (Safety and suitability of premises, environment and equipment)
- ensure risk assessments identify aspects of the environment that need to be checked on a regular basis, when and by whom those aspects will be checked, and how the risk will be removed or minimised, with particular regard to risk assessing the activities and resources that are available to children (Safety and suitability of premises, environment and equipment).

These actions for improvement were also monitored at the visit on 16 December 2013 and found to have been met. A more thorough risk assessment was in place that all staff understood and the children were playing in the suitably resourced base rooms where hazards are minimised.

Next steps

Having considered all the evidence the inspector is of the opinion that at this time:

- The setting has made satisfactory progress in addressing the points for improvement. The next visit will be a further monitoring visit.

I hope that you have found the visit helpful in promoting improvement in your setting. If you have any further queries please contact us on the number at the top of this letter.

Yours sincerely

Susan Gregory HMI
