The quality and standards of the early years provision

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder does not have sufficient knowledge of the safeguarding and welfare requirements. She is in breach of a number of requirements on the Early Years Register and the Childcare Registers.
- The childminder is not aware of the progress check for two-year-old children.
- The childminder has failed to maintain a current paediatric first-aid qualification. Consequently, she does not have up-to-date first-aid knowledge which compromises children's safety. The childminder does not have an adequate knowledge of safeguarding. This puts children at risk because the childminder is not aware of the procedures for reporting child protection concerns.
- The childminder has a suitable range of resources that cover the seven areas of learning. She described how she uses these to promote children's learning and meet their needs.
- The childminder satisfactorily demonstrated how she uses appropriate risk assessment systems to help her provide a safe environment for children. The childminder described suitable procedures for promoting children's health and well-being.
- The childminder does not evaluate her strengths and weaknesses in order to drive improvement. Therefore, she does not show the capacity to improve.

Information about this inspection

Inspections of registered early years provision are:

- scheduled at least once in every inspection cycle – the current cycle ends on 31 July 2016
- scheduled more frequently where Ofsted identifies a need to do so, for example where provision was previously judged inadequate
- brought forward in the inspection cycle where Ofsted has received information that suggests the provision may not be meeting the legal requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage or where assessment of the provision identifies a need for early inspection
- prioritised where we have received information that the provision is not meeting the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage and which suggests children may not be safe
- scheduled at the completion of an investigation into failure to comply with the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

The provision is also registered on the voluntary and compulsory parts of the Childcare Register. This report includes a judgment about compliance with the requirements of that register.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programmes for children and undertake observations and assessments.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her understanding of the safeguarding and welfare requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage.
- The inspector sampled the childminder's documentation, including policies and procedures.

Type of provision

For the purposes of this inspection the following definitions apply:

Full-time provision is that which operates for more than three hours. These are usually known as nurseries, nursery schools and pre-schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the higher fee for registration.

Sessional provision operates for more than two hours but does not exceed three hours in any one day. These are usually known as pre-schools, kindergartens or nursery schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the lower fee for registration.

Childminders care for one or more children where individual children attend for a period of more than two hours in any one day. They operate from domestic premises, which are usually the childminder's own home. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Out of school provision may be sessional or full-time provision and is delivered before or after school and/or in the summer holidays. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. Where children receive their Early Years Foundation Stage in school these providers do not have to deliver the learning and development requirements in full but should complement the experiences children receive in school.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
