Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a secure understanding of the safeguarding and welfare requirements, in particular the safeguarding procedures and her role and responsibility in protecting children.
- The childminder has a secure knowledge and understanding of how to promote children's learning and development, across all areas of learning. She has given consideration to how she will plan, observe and assess children, and use the information to move children forward in their learning and prepare them for school.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents, other providers and agencies to ensure children's needs are met, including for those with additional needs.
- Resources are plentiful, of good quality and cover the areas of learning. The childminder understands how she can use these to help support learning through play for children of differing ages and abilities.
- The childminder understands how to meet children's care needs and provide for their individual requirements and preferences, to nurture their good health and well-being.
- The childminder understands the importance of checking children's progress and of evaluating her provision, to drive on-going improvements.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector had discussions with the childminder about her knowledge and understanding of the requirements relating to safeguarding and welfare, and learning and development.
- The inspector looked at the childminder's documentation, including policies and procedures, and discussed her plans for future improvement.
- The inspector looked at some of the resources that the childminder has in place.
- The inspector looked at the areas of the home the childminder plans to use for childminding.
