The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Not met
The setting meets legal requirements for early years settings

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder demonstrates a suitable understanding of the learning and development requirements. She understands the importance of observing children and making assessments of their progress to identify their next steps in learning. As a result, she plans suitable activities which meet their individual needs.
- The childminder has appropriately addressed the recommendations raised at her last inspection and now holds public liability insurance. She demonstrates how to reduce risks and hazards to children while in her care. She has a suitable understanding of safeguarding issues and is able to identify concerns and how to proceed appropriately.
- The childminder provides daily opportunities for physical exercise and fresh air to promote healthy lifestyles. She holds a valid paediatric first-aid certificate to enable her to appropriately deal with accidents.
- The childminder has a suitable range of resources and play materials for the age of children she has been caring for. Resources are organised so that children can select things for themselves easily when she is minding.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents and other professionals to provide consistent care and learning to children. She has been liaising with her local authority development worker to ensure she keeps her knowledge up to date.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed the safeguarding and welfare requirements, and the learning and development requirements with the childminder.
- The inspector observed the areas of the premises available for childminding.
- The inspector discussed policies and procedures and sampled available documentation.
- The inspector discussed self-evaluation with the childminder.

The childminder registered in 2003. She lives in Kilburn in a ground floor flat. There are some steps leading to the front door. The childminder does not have a garden; however, there are local parks and outdoor areas nearby. The childminder reports that she has one child on roll in the early years age range. However, she has not cared for children since October 2014 and as a result, there are no children present at the time of inspection.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
