Inspection findings

How well the early years provision meets the needs of the range of children who attend. This is outstanding

The outstanding quality of teaching provides children with excellent learning opportunities. The learning environment, both indoors and outdoors, is inspiring. Children are supported by highly skilled staff to help ensure they make rapid progress in their learning. Staff skilfully share books with children and discuss differences. They support children's understanding of the world through a variety of activities and discussions. Staff target specific areas of the curriculum through group work. For example, they provide children with excellent opportunities to take turns, hold discussions, and develop early literacy and mathematical skills. Staff provide a variety of activities to support children's physical well-being. Children have opportunities to see an abundance of print to gain an understanding that print carries meaning. However, there is less print in the home languages of children learning English as an additional language. Staff carry out regular observations and assessments of children and use the information to carefully plan for children's individual needs. As a result, they prepare children exceptionally well for the next stage in learning.

The contribution of the early years provision to the well-being of children is outstanding

Staff are extremely nurturing and caring. Consequently, children feel emotionally secure and very safe. Children enjoy very positive relationships with staff. Staff have an excellent knowledge of children's preferences and interests as partnerships with parents are a key strength. For example, staff work extremely well with parents before children start to gather information about the children. This enables staff to plan for children's individual needs from the outset. Children develop exceptional self-care skills in relation to their age and ability. For example, they use knives confidently to help prepare healthy snacks. Children have a very good understanding of healthy lifestyles, such as what is good and bad for their teeth. Staff place a significant importance on helping children learn about safety through regular evacuation drills and discussions about road safety.

The effectiveness of the leadership and management of the early years provision is outstanding

The management team's highly effective recruitment arrangements, regular supervision, monitoring of staff's practice and evaluation of the provision ensure that the quality of the provision is outstanding. The highly qualified staff team continue to identify training to enhance their professional development. For example, they recently attended training about promoting mathematics and this has enhanced teaching and children's learning. Thorough risk assessments reduce hazards to children so they are able to learn in a safe environment. The management team is highly effective in monitoring children's progress. Children make extremely good progress which prepares them very well for their future learning.
