Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a good understanding of the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage. She has all of the required documents and records in place to enable her to care for children.
- The childminder has considered how she will reflect on her practice to improve the quality of her provision. She understands how to include the views of parents and children to improve practice.
- Safeguarding is effective. The childminder has effective safeguarding policies and procedures for keeping children safe and knows how to refer any concerns. She reviews her systems regularly to update herself about any changes to legislation.
- The childminder has an in-depth knowledge of how to promote children's learning in all areas. She has a range of good-quality resources to promote children's development and help them progress.
- The childminder understands how to plan for children's ongoing development from their starting points, through effective assessment procedures that identify all children's learning needs.
- The childminder is aware of the importance of promoting children's good behaviour to help them develop good manners and respect for others. She understands the need for encouraging regular attendance so that children learn successfully.
- The childminder has thought about how she intends to work in partnership with parents to engage them in their child's learning and to keep them updated about children's progress.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she delivers the educational programmes for children.
- The inspector looked at documents and discussed the childminder's policies that she uses when caring for children.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her self-evaluation methods and plans for improvement.
- The inspector viewed the parts of the premises used for childminding.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
