

Childminder Report

Inspection date	23 September 2015
Previous inspection date	24 April 2012

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Met

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- Safeguarding is effective. The childminder understands the need to meet the safeguarding and welfare requirements. She understands her duty to help protect the welfare of children.
- The childminder understands the importance of keeping her training up to date. She knows the need to share any changes to her policies and procedures with parents.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's good health and well-being through promoting healthy lifestyles and children's physical development.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's learning and development. She understands the need to plan activities to meet children's differing learning needs to help children to make progress in readiness for the next stage.
- The childminder understands the need to promote children's good behaviour. She recognises the importance of working in partnership with parents and with other professionals to meet children's needs.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's safety in her home through the use of risk assessments and safety checks.
- The childminder understands the need to promote equality and diversity and to plan activities to teach children about the wider world around them and to respect others.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector spoke with the childminder about her knowledge of the requirements.
- The inspector reviewed the childminder's policies and procedures, public liability insurance and first-aid qualification.
- The inspector observed the areas that are available for childminding.
