Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- Safeguarding is effective. The childminder is clear about child protection issues and the procedures to follow if she has any concerns. She understands her responsibility to support children's health and well-being. She holds a current first aid certificate.
- The childminder has a sound understanding of the learning and development requirements. She recognises the importance of planning activities that support children's individual learning needs. She is aware of the need to monitor children's achievements and progress to help her support them to move onto the next stage in their development.
- The childminder recognises the importance of evaluating her practice to identify her strengths and areas of development to improve the quality of her provision.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents, other settings and schools and sharing information with them to meet children's needs.
- The childminder has a positive attitude to offering an inclusive service. She provides a warm and welcoming home. She knows how to promote children's understanding of other cultures through discussion and the range of resources available.
- The childminder explains how through discussion she will help the children to keep themselves safe and healthy. She risk assesses and takes appropriate action to minimise hazards in the setting

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
