Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands the requirements and has kept up to date with them. She knows how to offer children who have a range of differing abilities a variety of learning experiences to help prepare them for school.
- The childminder knows how to observe, monitor and assess children when they start, and continue to assess their learning and plan for their future progress.
- The childminder knows how to develop partnerships with parents. She knows to request information about their child, share progress files and include parents in their child's learning.
- The childminder knows the importance of teaching children about diversity and offering them experiences which teach them about communities outside their own. The childminder understands how to promote children's knowledge of acceptable behaviour and respect for others.
- The childminder knows how to identify any concerns about a child's welfare and report these promptly.
- The childminder understands the importance of developing her professional practice. She has completed further training about safeguarding.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder her understanding of the requirements.
- The inspector looked at the areas of the house available for childminding.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her understanding of the required documentation.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
