Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands how to promote children's learning and development and how to prepare them for school. She understands how to assess children's progress and plan activities that reflect children's interests and meet their individual needs.
- The childminder understands the importance of maintaining strong relationships with parents and other settings so they can work together to promote children's learning.
- The childminder understands her responsibility to safeguard all children and the procedures to follow if she has concerns for a child's welfare.
- The childminder provides a safe environment for children in her home. She assesses risks to identify hazards so that children can play safely.
- The childminder knows how to promote healthy lifestyles for the children, including preparing healthy meals and ensuring children spend ample time outside.
- The childminder understands the benefits of self-evaluation to help her make improvements to her practice. She has detailed policies and procedures which she shares with parents from the start, so that they are well informed about her provision.
- The childminder promotes a diverse setting where many cultures are celebrated. She understands how to support children with special educational needs and those learning English as an additional language.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
