

Childminder Report

Inspection date	22 October 2015
Previous inspection date	28 November 2011

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Good	2

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has an appropriate understanding of promoting children's well-being, such as supporting their good health, behaviour and inclusion. She is aware of safeguarding procedures.
- The childminder knows how to promote children's learning and development through observational assessment, and how to provide appropriate learning experiences to enable children to make progress.
- The childminder has met recommendations raised at the previous inspection. This has brought about improvements in gaining relevant information about children's development when they start, and for addressing self-evaluation regularly.
- The childminder understands her responsibility to work in partnership with parents and any other professionals involved in the children's care and education, in order to meet the children's needs.
- The childminder reflects on her training needs and has attended relevant training since the last inspection. She welcomes the regular support of the local authority, and involves parents in the self-evaluation process to gain regular feedback.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she supports children's ongoing development, and how she engages parents to be involved.
- The inspector sampled documentation, including the records to safeguard children and promote their welfare.
- The inspector sampled children's learning records which included a range of observational assessments.
- The inspector observed all areas of the premises used for childminding and the resources for children's play and care.
- The inspector reviewed the childminder's systems for self-evaluation, including steps taken since the last inspection to develop her practice further.

The childminder registered in 2000. She lives in Ilford, in the London Borough of Redbridge. She is available to care for children each weekday, throughout the year. On the day of inspection, there were no children present.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
