

Childminder Report

Inspection date	20 October 2015
Previous inspection date	15 December 2010

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Good	2

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a suitable knowledge of the Early Years Foundation Stage requirements. She knows the correct procedures to follow to help keep children safe.
- The childminder knows how to plan and promote children's learning. She provides a variety of activities to help support children's development in all areas of learning.
- The childminder understands the importance of working with parents, and she uses a range of methods to engage with them. For example, she uses emails and text messaging.
- The childminder promotes inclusion well. For example, she obtains useful information about all children's individual needs to ensure they are known and met.
- The childminder reflects on her practice and the care and service she provides. This helps her identify priorities for improvement. She has addressed recommendations from her last inspection. She develops links with school staff to support older children's play and interests. She undertakes observations and assessments to plan activities children enjoy.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about her knowledge and understanding of the Early Years Foundation Stage.
- The inspector observed children's developmental records, and the childminder's policies and procedures.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about her processes for self-evaluation.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
