Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands the Early Years Foundation Stage requirements. She understands child protection procedures and knows how to safeguard the children in her care. She has attended training to update her knowledge.
- The childminder understands how to plan and provide a suitable environment and resources to meet children's individual needs. She knows how to observe and assess children's progress and how to use this information to plan for their next steps in learning.
- The childminder understands the need to keep children safe and to manage their behaviour appropriately. She knows the importance of undertaking effective risk assessments to minimise any hazards and promote children's safety.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's physical well-being, including the importance of teaching children about how they can develop a healthy lifestyle.
- The childminder understands the need to develop strong partnerships with parents and others who are involved in children's care and learning. She knows that it is important to share information to provide continuity of care.
- The childminder recognises the importance of regularly evaluating her provision and using this information to take action to improve the quality of her practice.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector talked with the childminder about how she intends to deliver the requirements.
- The inspector discussed the childminder's policies and the documents the childminder plans to use when caring for children.
- The inspector discussed self-evaluation and continuous improvement with the childminder.
- The inspector looked at the spaces, resources and equipment available for childminding.

The childminder registered in 1995. She lives in Wembley, in the London Borough of Brent. The childminder is also a registered foster carer. The childminder is available to childmind Monday to Friday, all year round, except for family holidays and bank holidays. At the time of the inspection, there were no children on roll in the early years age range.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
