Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands the learning and development requirements. She knows how to observe, assess and monitor children's development to help them progress.
- The childminder knows how to protect children from harm and neglect. She understands the procedures to follow if she has any concerns about their welfare.
- The childminder knows how to keep children safe by completing daily checks of her house, to identify and reduce any hazards.
- The childminder understands the importance of outdoor play and exercise for promoting children's good health and well-being. She understands how to promote children's independence and good hygiene routines.
- The childminder is aware of the importance of managing children's behaviour appropriately. She understands the need to teach children to be polite, respect each other's feelings and manage their own behaviour.
- The childminder has a clear understanding of the importance of working in partnership with parents and others involved in the children's care, to promote continuity in children's care and learning.
- The childminder is aware of the need to evaluate and undertake training to improve her practice. She understands the need to supervise her assistants and update them on current childcare practices to strengthen their knowledge and skills further.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector had a tour of the premises and checked all areas available for childminding.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about her knowledge of the Early Years Foundation Stage, including how she assesses children's abilities and plans for their progress.
- The inspector viewed and discussed a selection of the childminder's documents, including her policies and procedures.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her plans to keep children safe and healthy, how she risk assesses her premises, and her methods for evaluating her provision.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
