Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands the importance of her responsibilities to safeguard and protect children. She is aware of the action to take if she has worries about a child's welfare.
- The childminder understands the learning and development requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage. She knows how to assess children's progress and plans for their next steps in their learning.
- The childminder is aware of the importance of keeping herself informed of new developments. She continually updates her skills and knowledge to promote the learning of children of all ages and abilities.
- The childminder understands the importance of building positive partnerships with parents and other providers involved in children's care.
- An awareness of self-evaluation processes enables the childminder to understand the importance of reflecting on her provision to help drive continuous improvements.
- Using her understanding of how to promote children's healthy lifestyles, the childminder is aware of the need to provide children with healthy meals, establish hygiene practices, and ensure children have daily exercise and fresh air.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector observed areas and resources within the premises where the childminder intends to provide childcare.
- The inspector looked at relevant documentation, and checked evidence of suitability and qualifications.
- The inspector held ongoing discussions with the provider about how she intends to deliver the programmes for learning, evaluate the provision, and keep her practice up to date.

The childminder registered in 1995. She lives in West Norwood, in the London Borough of Lambeth. The provision operates from 8am to 6pm. The childminder has a recognised early years qualification. At the time of the inspection, there were no children on roll.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
