Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a sound awareness of requirements. She keeps her safeguarding knowledge up-to-date and is clear about procedures to follow if she had concerns about a child's welfare.
- The childminder, through discussion, has a good understanding of the importance of working in partnership with parents, professionals and other providers. She recognises the need to share information about children's progress to ensure consistency in their care and learning.
- The childminder continues to develop her skills and increase her knowledge through training opportunities. She evaluates her practice and looks for ways to improve outcomes for children.
- The childminder discussed her good understanding of the learning and development requirements. She knows how to provide a broad range of activities to challenge and motivate children so that they make good progress.
- The childminder explained how she would promote children's good health, support their physical and emotional well-being and teach them how to keep themselves safe.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed how the childminder promotes children's safety and her understanding of safeguarding procedures.
- The inspector discussed how the childminder would monitor children's development and plan for their progress.
- The inspector sampled a range of documentation, including policies, procedures, training certificates and systems for recording information.
- The inspector viewed the areas of the property that the children would use.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
