Summary of key findings for parents

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder is not aware of all her safeguarding responsibilities, including relevant legislation, to keep children safe. This breach also relates to the Childcare Register.
- The childminder does not hold a valid paediatric first-aid certificate or relevant public liability insurance, as required. These breaches also relate to the Childcare Register.
- The childminder does not understand the requirement to undertake written progress checks for children aged between two and three years and shares with parents, to monitor children's progress.
- The childminder knows how to provide age-appropriate activities and resources to extend children's interests and promote their learning.
- The childminder understands the importance of promoting children's physical health and well-being, such as through healthy eating and developing their independence skills.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage and the Childcare Register the provider must:

	Due Date
■ improve knowledge and understanding of safeguarding responsibilities in order to respond effectively to any welfare concerns	09/04/2016
■ obtain a relevant paediatric first-aid certificate in order to deal with any minor accidents and emergencies	09/06/2016
■ develop knowledge and understanding of the requirement to complete progress checks for children aged between two and three years, and share these with parents to support children's learning and development	09/05/2016
■ update and maintain appropriate public liability insurance, as required.	09/04/2016

Inspection activities

- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about her knowledge and understanding of the learning and development requirements.
- The inspector spoke to the childminder about how she would work with parents and support children's progress.
- The inspector viewed some written documentation, including the childminder's policies, procedures, and suitability checks for household members living in the premises.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
