Summary of key findings for parents

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder has not maintained her paediatric first-aid qualification. This does not enable her to promote children's safety effectively and breaches a requirement of the Early Years Register and the Childcare Register.
- The childminder knows how to plan to meet the needs of individual children. She explains how she would complete regular observations and assessments, and use a wide range of toys and resources to interest and engage children. She has a sound knowledge of the learning and development requirements.
- The childminder keeps her knowledge and understanding of child protection up to date. She has a clear understanding of the procedures she must follow should she have any concerns regarding a child's welfare.
- The childminder has plans in place to minimise risks to children. She explains how she will teach children about the importance of keeping themselves safe. She also explains how she will teach children about managing their own needs through good personal hygiene routines.
- The childminder describes how she would promote a healthy lifestyle by providing children with nutritious snacks, and support their physical development through a range of well-planned activities, both inside and outside the home.
- The childminder has a sound understanding of how to establish partnerships with parents. She intends to ensure they are well informed about her policies and procedures. She understands the importance of sharing information about children's progress and well-being.
- The childminder has a positive attitude to her continuing professional development. She regularly keeps up to date and identifies training to help her improve the quality of her provision.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage and the Childcare Register the provider must:

| ■ obtain an appropriate first-aid qualification. | 16/05/2016 |

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to support children's play and learning.
- The inspector and the childminder viewed areas of the childminder's house to be used for the care of children.
- The inspector looked at documentation the childminder will use when caring for children and discussed self-evaluation and the improvement plans.
- The inspector checked evidence of the suitability of the childminder and members of her family.
