The provision meets requirements

- The childminder knows how to support children's learning and development. She understands how to monitor their development and plan activities to support their individual needs and interests, to help prepare children for their future learning.
- The childminder understands how to protect children's welfare. She knows the safeguarding procedures to follow should she have concerns about a child's welfare.
- The childminder knows how to support healthy lifestyles and children's physical well-being, such as supporting their understanding of healthy choices.
- The childminder recognises the importance of evaluating her service. She plans to seek the views of others to help her reflect on her practice. The childminder understands the importance of developing her knowledge to help improve outcomes for children.
- The childminder knows how to encourage positive attitudes to support children to feel valued and to help them learn to respect others.
- The childminder understands how to support children's behaviour. She knows the importance of helping them to become emotionally ready for their move to school.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

- The inspector had discussions with the childminder about her childcare practice.
- The inspector had a tour of the premises with the childminder.
