Summary of key findings for parents

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder has not ensured she obtains a relevant first-aid qualification and does not hold valid public liability insurance. These are also breaches of the Childcare Register.
- The childminder does not ensure she keeps her knowledge up to date to fulfil all aspects of her role and responsibilities and improve the quality of her provision. For example, she lacks understanding of current changes in legislation to safeguard children's welfare.
- The childminder recognises the signs that may indicate a child is at risk of harm and knows how to report any welfare concerns.
- The childminder knows how to promote children's good health and physical well-being. She understands how to encourage children to behave positively.
- The childminder understands how to provide a range of activities to promote children's learning and development, and to help them make good progress.
- The childminder recognises the importance of working in partnership with parents to support children's care and learning.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the early years foundation stage and the Childcare Register the provider must:

	Due Date
■ complete a relevant first-aid qualification that includes caring for young children and babies, and maintain this consistently	30/08/2016
■ obtain and maintain valid public liability insurance	01/08/2016
■ seek regular professional development opportunities to obtain a clear understanding of your role and responsibilities to safeguard children's welfare, including any changes in legislation, and to improve the overall quality of the provision.	30/08/2016

Inspection activities

- The inspector held discussions with the childminder to explore her understanding of the requirements for the early years foundation stage.
- The inspector viewed a sample of documentation the childminder intends to use, such as her policies and procedures, attendance records and risk assessments.
- The inspector spoke with the childminder about how she evaluates and improves her service.

The childminder registered in 2008. She lives in Rainham, in the London Borough of Havering. She is available to care for children throughout the week, including weekends. She operates all year round. During the inspection, there were no children in the early years age range on roll.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
