Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a range of resources to meet the needs of children of different ages, abilities, and backgrounds to help them learn through play and exploration.
- The childminder is aware of her responsibility to safeguard children and has procedures to help her to do so. She knows how to promote children's health and well-being.
- The childminder understands the learning and development requirements. For example, she knows how to assess children's development and plan activities to help them make progress.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents and other professionals to understand and meet children's needs.
- The childminder promotes children's awareness and tolerance of difference and diversity, through her provision of positive images of different cultures and disabilities.
- The childminder understands the importance of evaluating of her provision to make improvements to the quality of care and learning for children.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector talked with the childminder about her understanding of the early years foundation stage requirements.
- The inspector took a tour of the childminder's home and saw her outdoor play area.
- The inspector sampled documentation relating to the childminder's suitability, her policies and procedures and planning for children's progress.

The childminder registered in 2012 and lives in Plymouth, Devon. There were no children in the early years age range on roll at the time of inspection. The childminder has a childcare qualification to level 3. She is available from Friday to Monday throughout the year and can provide overnight care.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
