Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has worked hard to address the actions raised at the last inspection. She understands about ensuring ratios are appropriately met at all times. She has also developed her knowledge and understanding of using assessments to plan challenging experiences for children.
- The childminder demonstrates her knowledge in supporting children's growing confidence and independence. She discusses how this will help children to become ready for their move to the next setting, including school.
- The childminder has a sound knowledge and understanding of child protection procedures. She demonstrates a clear understanding of her responsibility to make sure children are protected from possible abuse and neglect.
- The childminder discusses how she will use the broad range of toys, resources and equipment to extend children's development across a range of areas of learning. She discusses how she will take children on outings to places of interest.
- The childminder understands the importance of developing close partnerships with parents and other providers to ensure children's needs are met.
- The childminder demonstrates her clear awareness of how she will promote children's healthy lifestyles. She will provide daily opportunities for children to be physically active outdoors, so that their physical development is promoted. The childminder will make sure children are provided with a healthy balanced range of snacks and meals each day.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector and childminder toured the areas of the premises where childcare is to be provided. The inspector and the childminder looked at toys, resources and equipment that she intends to use.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programme for children. The inspector looked at policies and documents the childminder will use when caring for children and discussed self-evaluation and improvement plans.
- The inspector checked evidence of suitability of all persons living and working at the premises.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
