Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands safeguarding issues and knows how to respond to child protection concerns. She knows how to keep children safe, for example, she carries out checks on her premises to minimise risks.
- The childminder knows how to assess children's learning, use this information gained to provide a broad range of activities and help children to make good progress.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents to help provide continuity for children, and meet their individual needs.
- The childminder knows how to support children's well-being. For example, she understands the importance of maintaining children's good health, and to provide daily opportunities for fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder is aware of how to evaluate her practice and use the information to help her to achieve continuous improvement.
- The childminder understands the need to help children to respect one another, to behave well and develop the key skills needed for moving on to school.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector checked the suitability of the rooms that are used for childminding.
- The inspector looked at a selection of the records, and policies and procedures that the childminder uses when caring for children.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about how she delivers the educational programmes and evaluates her practice.
- The inspector checked evidence of the suitability of the childminder and those in her household.
