Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder knows how to plan for children's development, such as taking into account what they already know and can do. She understands the importance of monitoring their progress to help close any gaps in their achievements. The childminder knows how to help children prepare for school.
- The childminder understands her responsibilities to keep children safe and has an up-to-date knowledge of safeguarding practice.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents and other professionals, to support a consistent approach to meeting children's needs.
- The childminder knows how to help children to respect and value other people. For example, she plans to teach them about peoples' similarities and differences.
- The childminder knows how to support children to lead a healthy lifestyle. For example, she plans to take children to the park for fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder understands how to use self-evaluation to reflect on her practice. She knows the importance of developing her skills and knowledge, such as through training.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
