Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands how to keep children safe. She carries out risk assessments and daily safety checks to make sure children are able to play in a safe learning environment.
- The childminder understands how to manage children's behaviour, including teaching them how to work together and respect each other's views.
- The childminder is aware of how to safeguard children. She understands how to report any concerns regarding children's welfare to the relevant agencies.
- The childminder understands the importance of working with her assistants to maintain ratios in order to keep children safe.
- The childminder is aware of how to assess children's learning. She understands how to use this information to plan activities and to ensure children make good progress.
- The childminder understands the importance of reviewing and evaluating her practice and that of her assistants. She recognises the importance of working with other professionals and parents to meet children's individual needs.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector reviewed areas the childminder uses for childminding purposes.
- The inspector spoke with the childminder about her understanding of the legal requirements, including how she supports children's learning and care.
- The inspector sampled relevant documents, including the childminder's public liability insurance and paediatric first-aid qualification.

The childminder registered in 2014. She lives in Swanley, Kent. She works between five to six days a week, from 7am to 7pm, 48 weeks of the year. The childminder also provides overnight care. She works with two assistants. At the time of the inspection no early years children were present.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
