Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a secure knowledge of child protection procedures. Since the last inspection, she has completed safeguarding training. This has enhanced her understanding of reporting any concerns about a child's well-being and safety.
- The childminder has a secure understanding of the learning and development requirements. She knows how to use observation, assessment and activities to promote and monitor children's learning and meet their individual needs.
- The childminder has taken action to minimise risks inside and outside her home, so that when children are on roll, they can play safely. She knows to supervise children. For example, she only allows older children to access the tree house in her garden.
- The childminder knows how to act a positive role model for children to help them behave well. She identifies clear aims to help children learn to be polite and to treat others with kindness and respect.
- The childminder fully understands the importance of self-evaluation. She has reviewed how she seeks parent's views so she can act on their suggestions. She knows how to offer parents ideas for activities to do at home to involve them in children's learning.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The childminder checked the childminders understanding of how to work in partnership with parents to meet children's individual needs.
- The inspector checked the childminder is meeting the Early Years Foundation Stage requirements.
- The inspector talked with the childminder and sampled documentation available, including self-evaluation.
- The inspector checked the childminders understanding of safeguarding and how to keep children safe in her home and on outings.

The childminder registered in 2012. She lives in Farnham, Surrey. She provides care for children from Monday to Thursday, for most of the year. The childminder holds a relevant childcare qualification. At the time of the inspection there were no children on roll.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
