

Childminder Report

Inspection date	25 May 2017
Previous inspection date	7 October 2015

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Not met

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has addressed the actions raised at the last inspection. She understands the importance of checking her practice and quality of her provision.
- The childminder has a good understanding of child protection issues. She knows the procedure to follow should she have a concern about a child in her care.
- The childminder understands how to use observation and assessment of children's learning to plan activities that will challenge and encourage their ongoing progress.
- The childminder knows how to provide enjoyable learning experiences to help children make progress from their starting points.
- The childminder understands the importance of ensuring that children receive a healthy diet and regular exercise to promote their well-being.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in close partnership with parents and other early years settings that children attend.
- The childminder understands how to help children learn to respect one another. She knows how to promote their self-esteem, good behaviour and independence.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector viewed the areas of the childminder's home that she intends to use for children's care.
- The inspector checked evidence of suitability and qualifications. She discussed the childminder's self-evaluation.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programme for children and undertake observation, assessment and planning.
- The childminder discussed the safeguarding and welfare requirements with the childminder.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
