Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has taken steps to address the action set at her last inspection. She understands her responsibility to meet the learning and development requirements. She knows how to observe, plan and assess children's progress, to help them prepare for their next stages of development.
- The childminder communicates suitable knowledge and understanding of the safeguarding and welfare requirements and current child protection issues. She has clear policies and procedures in place to help her keep any children she cares for safe and healthy.
- The childminder recognises the need to evaluate her provision, to improve her service and outcomes for children. For example, she knows how to continue with her own professional development to improve her knowledge and understanding and to keep up to date with any changes and requirements.
- The childminder understands the importance of working together with parents and early years professionals, to support children's all-round development needs.
- The childminder has suitable toys and resources for children of all age ranges and knows how to positively manage children's behaviour.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programmes for children and undertake observation, assessment and planning.
- The inspector discussed the policies and procedures with the childminder and viewed documentation that she intends to use when caring for children.
- The inspector discussed the safeguarding and welfare requirements with the childminder and took into consideration the suitability checks.
- The inspector looked at the space available for childminding and discussed the resources the childminder intends to provide.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her systems for self-evaluation.

The childminder registered in 2012. She lives in the London Borough of Westminster. She operates from 7am until 6pm on Monday to Friday, all year round, except for bank holidays and family holidays.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
