

Childminder Report

Inspection date	3 November 2017
Previous inspection date	13 August 2014

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Good	2

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands her responsibility to safeguard children's welfare. She is knowledgeable about child protection and knows what procedures to follow if she has any concerns. The childminder keeps her knowledge current.
- The childminder understands how to support children's learning and development. She knows how to provide a safe and stimulating learning environment. The childminder has a good range of resources to help her promote children's learning and prepare them to move on to school.
- The childminder knows the importance of monitoring children's progress and seeking additional support for children if necessary. She understands the benefit for children of working with all others involved in their care and learning.
- The childminder knows how to promote a healthy lifestyle and positive behaviour. She understands the importance of teaching children about the diversity of the wider world.
- The childminder seeks views from parents and children to help her plan for ongoing developments and improvements to her setting.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she would observe, assess and plan to help children make progress in their learning.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her understanding of safeguarding and what she would do if she had any concerns.
- The inspector sampled relevant documentation.
- The inspector viewed areas of the house and garden used for childminding.
- The inspector spoke to parents available on the day of inspection and took note of the written views from other parents.

The childminder registered in 1989. She lives in Winchester, Hampshire. The childminder provides care Monday to Friday from 7.15am to 6pm, throughout the year. She holds an early years qualification at level 3.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
