

Childminder Report

Inspection date	30 October 2017
Previous inspection date	2 July 2014

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Not met
	Previous inspection:	Good	2

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder has not kept her safeguarding knowledge up to date. She does not understand the local procedures that she should follow to report concerns about children's welfare. She is not aware of changes in safeguarding legislation that can impact the safety of children.
- The childminder does not have a procedure in place to advise parents how to make a complaint or to respond to any complaints received.
- The childminder is not aware of her responsibility to monitor children's learning to target teaching effectively. She has limited knowledge of the areas of learning and how to implement them.
- The childminder has carried out first-aid training. She is aware of her responsibility to keep a record of the accidents that occur to children in her care.
- The childminder understands the importance of children having regular fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder understands how to keep the children safe from risks in the environment. She is aware of the importance of ensuring that children are only in contact with people who are safe and suitable.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the early years foundation stage and the Childcare Register the provider must:

	Due Date
■ ensure that safeguarding knowledge and procedures are up to date, to protect children and to respond to any concerns about children's welfare	06/11/2017
■ ensure that parents know how to raise a concern or make a complaint and implement appropriate arrangements to respond to any concerns raised	06/11/2017
■ improve knowledge of the learning and development requirements, particularly in relation to the monitoring and assessment of children's learning.	27/11/2017

Inspection activities

- The inspector looked at the areas of the childminder's home which are available for childminding purposes, and the resources for children's use.
- The inspector checked a range of relevant documentation.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder her knowledge and understanding of the requirements of the early years foundation stage.

The childminder registered in 1994. She lives in Hornsey, in the London Borough of Haringey. The childminder provides care for children from 8am until 6pm on Monday to Friday, all year round.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages.
