Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder describes how she plans to safeguard children. She has an up-to-date understanding of child protection issues. She describes how she would identify concerns about a child's safety or welfare and the procedures she would follow in that instance.
- The childminder intends to observe children's learning, assess their development and plan activities and play opportunities to help them to develop. She plans to monitor children's progress to help to identify gaps. She has a good understanding of how to work in partnership with other professionals, such as health visitors.
- The childminder values the importance of working with parents. She describes how she intends to gather information to inform initial and ongoing assessments.
- The childminder explains how she plans to evaluate her setting and intends to develop actions plans. She plans to make continual improvements to her service.
- The childminder intends to ensure that children are offered the opportunity to learn about differences and similarities between themselves and others. She values the importance of offering an inclusive service for all children and families.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to develop the education programmes, including how she intends to observe children and assess their development.
- The inspector had a tour of the areas the childminder intends to use when childminding.
- The inspector viewed a range of documents, such as policies and procedures and documents that she intends to use when childminding.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder regarding how she intends to meet the early years foundation stage requirements.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
