Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder knows how to assess children's progress and to plan a range of challenging activities to help support them to make good progress.
- The childminder has a good understanding of how to safeguard children. She knows the signs and symptoms that would give her cause for concern about a child's welfare and knows what to do if she has a concern about a child.
- The childminder has a clear understanding of the importance of building close relationships with children to ensure they feel settled within her care. She understands how to manage children's behaviour positively.
- The childminder understands the importance of providing children with regular experiences outdoors and daily exercise and promoting a healthy diet.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents and other professionals and sharing information with them regularly.
- The childminder knows how to evaluate her provision and understands the importance of keeping up to date with changes to improve her practice.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about her knowledge of the requirements of the early years foundation stage.
- The inspector looked at and discussed the toys and resources available for childminding.
- The inspector checked registration and insurance documents and the childminder's paediatric first-aid qualification.
- The inspector sampled a range of documents, including planning and assessments, and discussed the childminder's policies and procedures with her.
- The inspector discussed the childminder's process for self-evaluation and her areas identified for improving practice.

The childminder registered in 2006. She lives in Woolwich, in the London Borough of Greenwich. The childminder provides care all year round.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
