Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has an excellent knowledge and understanding of the early years foundation stage. She clearly explains how she intends to provide a wide range of learning opportunities to meet individual children's needs and interests.
- The childminder understands how to safeguard children. She has a secure understanding of the possible signs and symptoms of abuse. She knows who to contact if she has concerns about the welfare of a child.
- The childminder demonstrates a suitable understanding of how to promote positive behaviour. She discusses a range of appropriate behaviour management strategies.
- The childminder explains how she plans to work in partnership with parents to support children. She understands how important it is to involve parents in children's learning.
- The childminder understands how to support children's physical well-being. She intends to give children regular opportunities to be outside and exercise.
- The childminder demonstrates a good understanding of how to reflect on her own practice and identify possible areas for improvement.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector checked areas of the childminder's home that are used when caring for children and discussed how she plans to deliver the educational programmes.
- The inspector looked at policies, procedures and documents the childminder will use when caring for children.
- The inspector checked evidence of the suitability of the childminder and people living at the premises, and talked with the childminder about her self-evaluation and improvement plans.
