Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder is aware of child protection issues and understands safeguarding procedures. She knows how to refer concerns to relevant authorities.
- The childminder knows how to use observations and assessment to plan for children's ongoing learning, and deliver purposeful learning experiences for children.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents and other professionals. She knows how to share information to support consistency in children's learning.
- The childminder knows how she will promote healthy lifestyles, such as through the provision of a balanced diet and daily opportunities to be physically active. She understands how to manage children's behaviour and support children to be respectful of others.
- The childminder is committed to improving her own knowledge and the service she offers. She knows how to reflect on practice to maintain improvement.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector talked to the childminder about how she intends to support children's learning and play.
- The inspector looked at a range of documentation, including policies and procedures, and checked the suitability of the childminder and those living in the home.
- The inspector had a tour of the areas of the home that the childminder uses for childminding purposes.
- The inspector discussed the childminder's self-evaluation methods.
