Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder has systems in place for observing and assessing children's learning and development. She understands how she can support children of different age groups and help them to make progress.
- The childminder understands how to keep children safe and protect them from harm. She knows what to do if she has a concern about the welfare of a child.
- The childminder knows how to manage children's behaviour and understands her role in helping children to respect and value others.
- The childminder has a good understanding of how to promote children's health. She recognises the importance of good hygiene and will provide regular opportunities for children to develop their physical skills in the fresh air.
- The childminder understands the need for working in partnership with parents and other settings that children attend to support children's individual needs.
- The childminder reflects on her practice and has attended a range of training to help develop her skills and knowledge.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programmes for children and undertake observations, assessments and planning.
- The inspector looked at the policies and documents the childminder will use when caring for children.
- The inspector observed the areas to be used for the care of children along with the furniture, equipment and toys that are to be used for childminding.
- The inspector discussed the safeguarding and welfare requirements with the childminder and how she will keep children safe.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
