Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder provides a safe environment. She is aware of the signs that might indicate a child is at risk and knows how to report any concerns about a child's welfare.
- The childminder knows how to monitor children's progress and plan for their next steps.
- The childminder understands how to evaluate her provision and identify where to make improvements. She attends training offered by the local authority to improve her safeguarding knowledge and consistently develops her teaching practice.
- The childminder recognises the importance of supporting children's independence and teaching them to manage their personal care needs, in readiness for school. She understands how to help them enjoy healthy and active lifestyles.
- The childminder knows how to teach children about similarities and differences between themselves and others.
- The childminder understands how to form effective partnerships with parents to support children's care and learning needs. She recognises the importance of developing close and caring relationships with children to nurture their confidence and well-being

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector spoke with the childminder about her knowledge of the learning and development requirements, including arrangements for assessing children's progress.
- The inspector sampled a range of documents and discussed the records and policies the childminder uses for childminding.
- The inspector explored the childminder's understanding of how to keep children safe.
- The inspector checked the suitability of the areas used for childminding purposes.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she evaluates her provision and plans improvements.

The childminder registered in 1993. She provides care all day, Monday to Friday throughout most of the year.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
