Summary of key findings for parents

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands her responsibility to safeguard children. She keeps her knowledge of child protection up to date and knows what to do should she have any concerns about a child's welfare or safety.
- The childminder recognises the importance of working in close partnership with parents and any other early years settings children attend. She knows to provide parents with regular feedback about their child's care and learning.
- The childminder demonstrates a clear understanding about how to use observations and assessments to track and monitor children's development. She understands how to plan activities to support children's learning and progress.
- The childminder demonstrates through discussion that she has a good knowledge of how to support children to learn about good behaviour. She explains how she sets consistent boundaries for children and helps them learn to think about the needs of others.
- The childminder is motivated and continues with her professional development to improve her knowledge and understanding. She evaluates her practice in her drive for ongoing improvement.
- The childminder understands how to keep children safe. She assesses risks in the environment to make sure that children can play and learn safely.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
