- The childminder understands how to safeguard children. She knows the signs that would alert her to any concerns. She fully understands the actions she would need to take to follow up any issues to promote children's welfare.
- The childminder knows the importance of risk assessments to help her to promote children's safety in the home and when on outings. The childminder's home is free from hazards.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's good health and well-being. - The childminder recognises the importance of evaluating her provision and undertaking training to improve the quality of her practice.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
