Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- Leaders understand their duty to keep children safe and can recognise the indicators that may cause them concern about the welfare of a child in their care. They know how to refer any concerns they may have. Leaders understand how to recognise if a child is at risk of being exposed to extreme ideas or behaviours.
- Leaders provide a suitable environment for children who attend the club. They carefully consider how to provide activities and resources that build on children's interests and help them to develop new skills.
- The premises are clean and safe. Leaders know how to create strategies to encourage children to build on their confidence and independently carry out acts of self-care. They understand how to support good hygiene routines and emphasise the health and well-being of children.
- Leaders have carefully considered how they evaluate the provision to maintain continuous improvement. They understand how to involve parents and children, for example, in developing new ideas for activities and trips.
- Leaders know how to support children in managing their feelings and behaviour. They have considered how to create activities which develop children's social skills and understand how to create an inclusive environment.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector was shown around the premises, and leaders discussed activities they intend to provide for children.
- The inspector viewed policies and relevant documents, including those leaders will use when providing services for children.
- The inspector held a meeting with leaders and discussed their practice, including how they plan to evaluate the provision and continue to improve their service.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

If you are not happy with the inspection or the report, you can complain to Ofsted.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, further education and skills, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
