Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a secure knowledge of child development. She knows how to observe children's learning and how to provide a range of opportunities to support them to make progress in their development.
- The childminder understands the importance of encouraging children to display positive behaviour. She knows how to support them to manage their feelings and to learn right from wrong.
- The childminder discusses how she provides opportunities to support children's personal development and social skills. She recognises the benefits of working with parents to help children to settle.
- The childminder knows to consider children's allergies and dietary requirements when providing food for them to eat, in order to keep them safe and to meet their needs.
- The childminder has knowledge of how to safeguard and protect children in her care. She is familiar with the procedures to report any concerns and allegations to the relevant authorities.
- The childminder understands how to evaluate the provision and how to ensure her professional development is up to date. The childminder knows to inform her assistants and parents of the policies and procedures. This is to make them aware of the expectations from her and them.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
