Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- A well-planned environment where children can follow their own interests is in place. The childminder plans a variety of activities which promote children's development.
- The childminder describes how she encourages children's positive behaviour. She plans routines which include opportunities for rest and play. Children can choose from a wide variety of toys to engage them.
- The childminder works in partnership with parents. She uses information from home as a base from which to plan learning.
- Safeguarding knowledge kept is up to date through regular training. The childminder is able to act promptly and effectively on concerns about a child's safety.
- The childminder explains how she promotes healthy eating. Children go outside everyday for fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder knows the children very well, and forms close relationships and strong attachments with them. This promotes children's well-being and enables them to be secure.
- The childminder uses membership of professional organisations to give her the opportunity to reflect on her practice. She also accesses training to improve her skills and knowledge.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
