Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands how children learn and how to assess their development. She knows the importance of planning a range of engaging activities that promote the seven areas of learning. She recognises the need to make learning enjoyable to help children engage and develop positive attitudes to learning.
- The childminder is aware of the need to work with parents to share information about children's learning and experiences. She explains how she will keep parents up to date with regular feedback and ideas on how to support learning at home.
- The childminder fully understands the safeguarding and welfare requirements. She has up-to-date knowledge of wider safeguarding issues, including protecting children from extreme views. The childminder confidently knows the signs and symptoms that indicate a child may be at risk of abuse and understands the need to promote online safety.
- The childminder talks confidently about managing children's behaviour and how she would support and encourage this. She knows the need to give clear and consistent messages regarding right and wrong and how to teach children to respect others. She talks about how creating a positive atmosphere can help children to become confident and self-assured.
- The childminder recognises the importance of continued professional development and reflecting on her provision. She keeps her childcare knowledge and skills up to date, such as through training and research.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- This was the first routine inspection the provider received since the COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic began. The inspector discussed the impact of the pandemic with the provider and has taken that into account in their evaluation of the provider.
- The inspector viewed the areas of the home available for childminding and discussed with the childminder how she plans to use the space to support children's learning.
- The childminder discussed with the inspector how she plans to meet the needs of children, including their safety and welfare.
- The inspector checked evidence of the childminder's qualifications and suitability and looked at policies and documents that the childminder uses.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.
