Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands how to plan activities for children that engage their interest. She makes sure children have a good selection of resources to choose from. The childminder is committed to creating an environment where children flourish, feel safe and are happy.
- The childminder has systems in place to risk assess the environment and activities on offer. She carefully considers any possible risks and puts measures in place to help promote the safety of children.
- Children regularly give feedback to the childminder about the activities and menu she provides. This enables the childminder evaluate her setting and make any changes to develop the provision. Recently, she has identified ways to increase play outdoors for all ages of children.
- The childminder recognises the importance of building good relationships and working partnerships with schools and parents. This means children experience consistent approaches in the different settings they attend. Children then know what is expected from them and how to behave appropriately.
- The childminder evaluates her own knowledge and understands the importance of regular training. This ensures she keeps up to date with wider safeguarding issues and how to keep children safe.
- Children are offered a healthy, balanced variety of meals and snacks, including burritos, meatballs and vegetables.

There were no children in the early years age range present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no early years children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

- Suitability documentation for both the childminder and household members was checked, along with the first-aid certificate.
- The inspector held a discussion with the childminder to understand how the provision is organised.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.
