Full inspection

Inspected under the social care common inspection framework

Information about this children's home

This home is owned by a private organisation. It provides care for up to five children who have a learning disability and additional needs. At the time of the inspection, four children were living at this home.

The registered manager left on 16 April 2021 to become the responsible individual. The home has been without a registered manager since.

Inspection judgements

Overall experiences and progress of children and young people: inadequate

The progress and experiences of children are inadequate because safeguarding arrangements are weak, management oversight is poor and therefore children are not always fully protected.

Children can live at this home beyond their 18th birthday to support a move to adult care. At the time of this inspection, there was one young adult and three children living in the home. Care planning for the young adult to move on is slow as he has now reached his 19th birthday without a clear plan for a move from this children's home.

Care plans, put in place by children's placing local authority, are not always followed. An agreed staffing ratio of two staff to support one child is not always provided. This shortfall has the potential to deny the child the opportunity to fully take part in planned activities. Furthermore, when the child is included in outings with other children, the reduced staffing levels place all the children at greater risk of harm.

All the children attend full-time education. Staff liaise well with school professionals to promote attendance and learning. Within the home, each child has some identified aims to work towards, to develop their personal skills. Daily recording of any progress made lacks sufficient detail to evidence if children are achieving the desired outcomes.

The home has been decorated in some areas, improving the homely appearance. The departure of the employed maintenance team has led to some delays in further redecoration and repairs. Damage to the stairwell is unsightly and requires repair without waiting for new maintenance staff to be employed.

Children are supported well to keep in touch with family and friends. Visits and phone calls are further enhanced with the use of technology and video calls. Children enjoy attending a weekly youth club, where they make friendships outside the home.

How well children and young people are helped and protected: inadequate

Children experience inappropriate restraint. On at least three occasions, staff members have lifted and carried a child to move them. Each time this occurred in response to manage a child's behaviour that challenged the skills of the staff team. The physical restraint policy is not fit for purpose. The policy fails to provide suitable guidance for staff without any reference to the Children's Homes (England) Regulations 2015. Instead, the policy refers to the Care Quality Commission.

Leaders and managers do not understand the procedures in relation to referring poor staff practice promptly to the local authority designated officer (LADO). One incident of carrying a child in December 2021 was referred to the LADO. However, leaders and managers failed to maintain a record of the LADO's response. A second incident in January 2022 was not assessed as needing to be reported to the LADO.

A more recent incident in April 2022 was inappropriately referred to the local authority multi-agency safeguarding hub instead of the LADO. As a result of this error, the referral was three days after the incident. This is the second time that leaders and managers have failed to follow safeguarding procedures by not referring to the LADO immediately. This failing was reported on at the previous inspection in June 2021.

Leaders and managers lack appropriate curiosity in their monitoring of care practices. The independent person visited in November 2021 and reported that some unexplained marks were noted on a child's arm. Leaders and managers are unable to find any records to confirm how, or if, this matter was investigated.

Recruitment procedures do not thoroughly check the suitability of staff to care for children. Leaders and managers do not always seek verification as to why previous employment with children and/or vulnerable adults has ended. This lack of sufficient rigour in recruitment practices means that managers cannot always be assured that children will be cared for by suitable or appropriately skilled staff.

The effectiveness of leaders and managers: inadequate

The home has been without a registered manager since April 2021. Ofsted concluded in November 2021 that the applicant proposed by the organisation was not suitable for the role. Since December 2021, the responsible individual has resumed the day-to-day role of managing the home but has not submitted an application to register with Ofsted. The absence of a full complement of effective leaders and managers has contributed to the inadequate inspection judgement.

Repeated shortfalls are evident in relation to the protection of children, recruitment of staff and the leadership and management of the home. Requirements have been made about these failings at a previous inspection in June 2021 and a compliance notice was issued. Another compliance notice has been issued due to the findings at this inspection.

Record-keeping is poor. Some progress has been made to ensure that most of the records maintained are now held electronically, avoiding the complexity of two recording systems. However, the content is often weak and at times inaccurate. Records of fire evacuation from the home in response to the alarm being activated are incomplete. The records are often illegible, full names of those present are not always recorded and the reason for the evacuation is not always listed.

Records of outings and activities do not always detail the names of all the staff present. Furthermore, a complaint was received about one of the children from a local business in November 2021. Although the matter was dealt with appropriately and resolved, leaders and managers did not record the incident as a complaint, failing to follow the complaints procedure.

Staff report that they feel supported by the management of the home and that they enjoy their role in caring for and supporting the children. In addition, social care professionals report that they are generally satisfied with the quality of care provided.
