Introduction

The inspection was carried out by three additional inspectors.

Description of the school

This is a large primary school with a nursery. Children enter the school with standards that are well below the national average. It serves an area characterised by poverty and overcrowding. Almost three fifths of pupils have free school meals, which is very high. Fifty-five % of pupils are of White British heritage. The remainder are from a diverse range of minority ethnic backgrounds, including Black African. One quarter speak a first language that is not English. A quarter of pupils have learning difficulties. Pupil mobility is high and the school has a falling roll. A new school was built on the old site in 2004. It is a Beacon school and has the Active Mark and Healthy Schools award.

Key for inspection grades

Grade 1 Outstanding

Grade 2 Good

Grade 3 Satisfactory
Grade 4 Inadequate

Overall effectiveness of the school

Grade: 2

This is a good school with parts that are outstanding. Its exciting new building is full of space and light and serves the school community very well. Pupils make exceptionally good progress as a result of outstanding teaching. They leave the school with standards that are above and often well above the national average. Provision in the Foundation Stage is good. The organisation in Year 1 makes it hard for some of the youngest pupils to settle. The headteacher has a drive and vision that enthuse and energise staff and pupils alike. She is well supported by the deputy head and a confident leadership team. Together they monitor the school's performance and maintain high standards with great skill and commitment. Pupils' personal development is good. They behave well and are keen and interested in learning. The persistent absence of a minority of pupils makes attendance well below the national average. Pupils are well cared for and new arrivals to the school, often from overseas, are integrated very well. The school has adapted the curriculum well to meet changes in the way classes are organised as a result of falling rolls. Delays in the installation of information communication and technology (ICT) equipment into the new school building are temporarily affecting the provision of the subject and standards. Parents are happy with their children's education. Governors are supportive and well-informed. Very good progress has been made since the last inspection. Money is well spent. The head and deputy's determination and flair mean that the school has a bright future.

What the school should do to improve further

* Improve provision and raise standards in ICT by making sure pupils have sufficient access to reliable equipment.* Adapt the programme for pupils at the beginning of Year 1 to help them all settle in well. * Improve attendance by dealing rigorously with those who repeatedly miss school.

Achievement and standards

Grade: 1

Achievement is outstanding because teachers have a shared understanding of how pupils learn and consistently have high expectations of what they can do. The excellent monitoring of all aspects of pupils' education means that no child is permitted to fall behind. There are no differences in how well groups of pupils achieve. Those who have learning difficulties are very well supported, and teachers play a full role in drawing up sharply focused individual education plans. The very experienced coordinator for ethnic minority achievement ensures that pupils at the early stages of learning English make rapid progress. Pupils enter the nursery with standards well below those normally found. They make good progress in the Foundation Stage, especially in personal development. They often enter Year 1 with standards below those of the early learning goals, particularly in language. For some children this transition is something of a culture shock because of the more formal curriculum they meet. Standards in reading, writing and mathematics in the Year 2 tests are rising, and the school compares well with those in similar circumstances. In Years 3 to 6 pupils reap the benefit of their good early education and make rapid progress. By the end of Year 6 standards are well above average in mathematics and science and above average in English. Pupils do better than those in other schools in attaining the higher grades.

Personal development and well-being

Grade: 2

Pupils are keen and motivated throughout the school. They say work is 'interesting and challenging'. They are acquiring the good basic skills and work habits that will prepare them well for the future. Most come to school regularly, but attendance is well below the national average because a few families condone persistent absence. Pupils' spiritual, moral social and cultural development is good. There are opportunities for reflection through art, religious education, assemblies and PSHCE. Pupils are respectful, considerate and confident. They care for others and take personal responsibility for their actions. The school promotes healthy lifestyles through its sporting activities, the provision of fruit and water, and improving lunches. Pupils understand how healthy food and exercise will help them to concentrate and improve their learning. There is a strong sense of a community. Pupils raise money for good causes, distribute Harvest gifts to local people and make donations for needy children around the world. They learn about democratic processes through the work of the school council and from visits and visitors. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Gordon Brown, opened the new building. Cultural awareness is promoted through the arts and different festivals. Pupils get along with each other very well whatever their backgrounds.

Quality of provision

Teaching and learning

Grade: 1

The quality of teaching and learning is outstanding. There is a common understanding of what makes effective teaching. In a very effective lesson, the teacher asked Year 3 and 4 pupils to plan play scripts using a nursery rhyme as a starting point. She had very high expectations and pupils enjoyed completing the task. They were able to suggest the criteria the teacher should use when marking their play scripts (such as 'have we included stage directions?'). Rigorous and systematic monitoring by all leaders helps to maintain high standards. Teachers have a thorough knowledge and understanding of their subject areas and promote high standards. All pupils are given challenging work and say 'we will do our best'. Even the youngest children are encouraged to work well independently. Pupils make very good progress whatever their abilities. Teaching assistants provide very effective support to groups and individuals. The quality of marking is excellent and really helps pupils improve their work. They are keen to read the comments in their books and excited about the targets that teachers set. Teachers are developing their skills in using assessment information to monitor closely how well pupils are doing.

Curriculum and other activities

Grade: 2

The school provides a good curriculum that meets all statutory requirements. It is monitored regularly to check the effectiveness of new initiatives. Measures to improve boys' performance in writing have been successful. ICT is temporarily restricted because of delays in installing new equipment. Otherwise the curriculum meets pupils' needs well. In the nursery and reception classes children receive a rich programme of learning experiences. Particular emphasis is placed on literacy skills and physical development. New arrivals benefit from well planned arrangements to help them settle into school quickly. There is a wide range of clubs and activities for the older pupils to enjoy. Younger pupils have fewer opportunities.

Care, guidance and support

Grade: 2

The school provides good care for pupils, which contributes well to their enjoyment of school and the very good progress they make. However, some of the children beginning Year 1 find the change from Foundation Stage difficult because the programme planned does not support all their needs. All pupils are well aware of what makes a healthy lifestyle and where to seek help if they have a problem. Parents are appreciative of the high level of care given by all staff. Very effective support is provided for vulnerable pupils and their families. There are strong links with other agencies. Innovative projects in school include speech and language provision and relaxation sessions for angry pupils. All health and safety requirements are in place and there are good procedures for child protection and assessing risks. The new marking policy is having a considerable impact on pupils' understanding of how they can improve. Teachers are developing the use of assessment information to track individual pupil's progress.

Leadership and management

Grade: 2

Huge demands have been made on the leadership of the school by the massive building project. Problems persist with site management and cleaning: items taken from the school's control by the Public Finance Initiative. Despite this, standards have continued to improve and pupils are among the top achievers nationwide. The headteacher displays exceptional determination and drive, and is ably supported by the deputy head. Their individual strengths and skills complement one another and combine to provide outstanding leadership. Excellent systems promote the extremely effective teaching. New initiatives are monitored exactingly, and all teachers held accountable for the performance of their pupils. For example, the revised marking policy is already making a huge difference to pupils' understanding of how they can improve. Leaders are creating a forward-thinking innovative school, which widens pupils' horizons. In a letter to the headteacher one girl wrote, 'Thank you for making me believe in myself.' Subject leaders take a greater role in analysing assessment information, but this could be used more by class teachers to help them set targets for pupils. The governing body is supportive and discharges its statutory responsibilities. Governors are not sufficiently active in marketing the school to the local community, especially in view of falling rolls. The school brochure, for example, would benefit from colourful illustrations and a larger typeface. Self-evaluation is very thorough. The school improvement plan follows on well from this, with key priorities set out clearly. With its exciting modern building, the school has entered a new era, and is well set to continue to excel.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints about school inspection', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.ofsted.gov.uk.

Text from letter to pupils explaining the findings of the inspection

Thank you very much for making us so welcome when we visited your lovely new school. We think the building is brilliant, with so much light and space for you to enjoy - so very different from the old one. We were very impressed with how keen you are to learn, and how much you enjoy your lessons. We think your teachers do a superb job and get the best out of you. It is clear that you are making very good progress, and the new marking system helps you to see this. You behave well in class and around the school, and look out for one another. We can see how much fun you have on visits and putting on productions from all the photographs and the DVD.

We hope that you will all come to school every day unless there is a really good reason to be away. We have told your headteacher to be sure to check why some people are missing a lot of school. We know that it is taking a long time to install the new computers and we want to see that done quickly, so that you can get the most out of them. Some of the reception children find it difficult to move up into Year 1 because the work there is very different. We have asked your teachers to make it easier for them, and we are sure you will help the Year 1 children to settle in quickly.

Many thanks for being so friendly. We think your school is an exciting place and would love our own children to be here if only we lived close enough!

Yours sincerely

Nick Butt, Lead Inspector
